Moonlight Picnic.

A party of about twenty-five young people of Pickens, chartered by Mrs. Wm. Stoll and Miss Elinor Knight, walked out to the power plant Thursday evening and enjoyed a picnic on the banks of Town creek. The young ladies prepared a most delicious and exhilarating repast for the occasion and after as much as could be had been disposed of, a pleasant hour was spent in chatting down by the old mill stream. Hagood Bruce's appetite, for some unknown reason, was failing, and Gigniliatt Christopher led the eating league with seventeen sandwiches, the closely pushed by one of The Sentinel force with sixteen sandwiches and one bite on the seventeenth. It was indeed an enjoyable occasion.

At the Baptist Church.

Last Sunday was a good day for the Baptists of Pickens. There were 120 present at Sunday school and the pastor, Dr. Ramsay, delivered two earnest and impressive sermons, morning and night. At the morning service the Lord's supper was celebrated and ten received for baptism. At the evening service seven were received by letter. The ordinance of baptism will be administered next Sunday morning at 9:30 in the creek at Holder's Ford.

Bound Over to Court.

Nine negroes were brought before Magistrate A. S. Porter, Monday morning, charged with attacking and shooting up Will Hill's (colored) house about a month ago, and were bound over to next term of court. Two of the accused turned state's evidence. A large crowd of colored people attended the trial, but there was good order.

Rev. Pat B. Withrow.

The people of Pickens were delighted with the lecture of Rev. P. B. Withrow at the Methodist church last Sunday afternoon. He is a very earnest, consecrated man, and is on fire with zeal for lost men. He is superintendent of Union Missions in the city of Charleston, West Virginia. Before his conversion about six years ago he was a bar keeper in the same city. He is deeply in earnest and is full of fire. He also preached in the Methodist church at night.

Miss Jennie Rosamond Dead.

Miss Jennie Rosamond, daughter of the late John W. Rosamond, died at her home in Brushy Creek township of Anderson county, Sunday afternoon, after several months of declining health. For the last forty years Miss Rosamond was a teacher in the community in which she lived. The funeral services were held at Pickens Chapel Monday afternoon and the interment was in the church yard.

Singing at Holly Springs.
